TIME

My feet is trembling, and I try to run
What I wish for is not what I'm getting
From time past the future is promised
From time to time we go back to time

How can the blind see when led in the dark
Many years of struggle through inflations
From hand to mouth became the status
Now we're left in a state of disparity

I will speak up and write down words
Store them in the cloud for the future
Keeping a trace for next generation
To see that we all come from the past

To see a time of when we were growing
And to write times of when we've grown

Sonnet d1

FREE

Loosen your grip and free your thoughts
Let the mind not stay locked in one spot
That extra effort will take you out of the box
To a place where you'll work effortlessly

Free your heart to lessen the burden
The body is already taking the heat
Each day we see the break of dawn
Is another step to the great beyond

Why picking up dirt's along the way
Or singing songs filled with hate
Each person is to his own fate
We are same, being molded like clay

Free the mind for tomorrow is a new day
Keeping it light and defying gravity

Sonnet d2

AUTOMATIC

Things just goes on to happen in life
Different points along the path we're on
You may sit, get amazed and wonder
Or choose to find alternate route out

A way seems brighter and better at first
Give it a shot but expect to see more
Cause there is hunger weary and thirst
But look at the brighter bigger picture

There are no set ways to go out of life
But while in it do get the best of wine
To have a large family, with them I dine
As the days get better along the strife

I can't reset what has happened
Because time ticks forward in automatic

Sonnet d3

BENEATH

Beneath me you can find another layer
Of my feelings, emotions and thoughts
Of my words that are brewed in my mind
That flows from the fountain of my blood

Thick layer of skin to keep the heart guarded
When accident happen the mind is protected
When slandering occur, thoughts are set free
All in bid to maintain happiness culture

Beneath me you'll find the pains I've bore
And times I couldn't find the right way to go
Moments I was lost in the maze of thoughts
I wallowed through the puzzle but made it out

Beneath me is an image of my true self
From where I come to where I'm going

Sonnet d4

DEXTERITY

We are all molded by the Supreme God

We all can mold the future we expect

It may take a long time but keep doing

Consistency birthed successful people

Find what the hand loves, keep feeding it

Find a skill the mind wants, start doing it

Gold is found in impurities but precious

Deep within your soul you can mine gold

From creation of man the hand is the tool

Many have written, many have sang songs

I'll keep doing the art my hands found

It's from ages past going into the future

Dexterity of my hands kept me going

I am not perfect but tends towards it

Sonnet d5

ENDLESS FOREVER

I woke up to an endless forever
From the time of womb escape
Till now, I'm still toiling to survive
The body has been through a lot

Sleep through the night to see visions
Of where the journey may lead to
Of a time where needs are being met
And a time dreams turns to success

I wake up to an endless forever
And I remember those gone forever
The pains that was left inside of me
Motivates me to make my forever count

I'll keep going on this journey of life
I know it takes me to an endless forever

Sonnet d6

MEMORIES

Imagine a life without memories
Of events captured by the minds lens
Through the eyes as the medium and Stored in the heart as mental picture

Times of joyous smiles that were made
Holding hands walking and talking
Of a time there was no single pain
Days gone by, now images are on replay

I remember a time when love was real
And it can be sealed with just a kiss
I remember a time our hearts rejoice
A time there was no serpents hiss

I remember the times we held hands
I cherish those times and the memories

Sonnet d7

I WISH

I wish to see your face again
I wish to see you smiling once more
To hear your voice in the morning
Singing those songs that lifts spirits

Hoping to be with you someday
And to relive moments we shared
Of the mornings we spent cooking
And laughing through the afternoon

Of the future plans being laid out
To the tasks needed to be done
Through the challenges we faced
Breaking through it all to freedom

I wish to achieve our set goals
It's just matter of time coming

Sonnet dB

OBSESSED

I'm obsessed with finding that path
A road that takes me to best of time
Streamline and target the bulls eye
Life can be likened to game of dart

I'm obsessed with threading same path
A road filled with precious of metals
To find knowledge that refines the mind
Time to time I'm bound on same route

I'll keep on doing what my hands finds
Clearing the future for my Next of Kin
For the next generation to be better
Which is the wish of our forefathers

I'm obsessed with making it to the end
That's the only time I'll get some rest

Sonnet d9

MISSION

There is a light shining from up above
To make one bright and thereafter radiate
At every sight is rays to fuel the pursuit,
Cure the blight and achieve greater height

I look up and see a shining vision
With just a bridge as obstacle to cross
I'm willing to take bold completing steps
To the successful end of the mission

Years gone by are like dusts in the wind
Every new day comes with targets to meet
Break of dawn is gunshot to the race
I pray yours be filled with so much grace

There is a set goal for everyone
Do well to complete your mission

Sonnet d10

DISTANCE

When I see you coming from a distance

At this instance I shiver and go cold

I'll never want to be on your bad side

So I buckle up and come shoulder high

Whenever you call me I do not hesitate

Your voice loud enough to cause a quake

From your tone I can tell your feelings

Even without seeing your facial expression

Now the distance has come to stay forever

But it can't take away fond memories

I remember the words you always say

Get education first then explore the world

Distance is only but physical

Because you're still in my heart

Sonnet d11

DRIPPING

Dripping blood climbing to the mountain top
Punching through walls, I don't give up a fight
Standing at a point where the view is clear
Dancing to the rhythm of nature's beat

Dripping blood through sleepless nights I had
Staying awake while planning the future
Laying down my burdens at my feet
Bringing to me an uplifting spirit

Dripping blood as things also gets better
Making it turn around and become normal
Getting the fruits of seeds I had planted
Smiling cause I do not drip blood in vain

Stopping the cry from years of nothing
Bringing me to a time of something

Sonnet d12

LOOSING

loosing my thoughts from confinement

So I can get a deserved treatment

Making it flow like metal in foundry

Setting it free from all boundary

Losing a race doesn't mean I didn't run

It probably wasn't my winning turn

I'll keep thinking what's next to be done

In a place filled but I'm the only one

Loosing my thoughts to gain some more

Sometimes the mind gets pain from sore

I won't give up until I regain freedom

And get crowned as King of this Kingdom

I keep loosing many of you

Setting us all in a free world

Sonnet d13

BLACK OR WHITE

Black or white, it really doesn't matter
We are monochrome, black or white
Having voices that can be sung aloud
There are no colors in one voice

Why do blacks run to the whites
Is it to find a shining light
Or to reap from where was sown
Or to find a proper place to grow

Humus soil is known to be black
Beneath the earth is always dark
A place where planted seeds spark
God kept abundant resources in black

The Sunlight we know is white
But it can't survive without black

Sonnet d14

HOLD MY HAND

Hold my hand and take me to a place
Where there is abundance of water
Where my thoughts are free to swim
Across borders to the rest of the world

Hold my hand let us go together
To a time we hold hands dancing
To the tunes we made from the past
Going on tour round beautiful places

Hold my hand even when we get old
At that point we can say we were bold
Going through many years of repetition
And many more years to live through

Hold my hand as we take giant strides
Making our prints along this path

Sonnet d15

MOTHER

I am writing this ode to you
For keeping me through the dew
Covering me through the rainfall
Your umbrella makes dry horizon

Feeding me even from your little
Making sure I get nourishment
From time of sucking till I can eat
Up until now you still want to feed me

You are my rock solidly behind me
Within you I find my best of peace
From inside you I draw motivation
I wish for you the best of life

You're my mother and I your son
Same blood that flows in you is in me

Sonnet d16

MY LIFE

This life I live, I know it's not my own
The air from where it comes, I do not know
Each day I wake to the sight of reality
Each step I take, I find my conscience

This life I live is created by The Supreme
He alone can tell to where it goes
I live to carry out instructions given
Cause at the end he opens my file

This life I live I only give my best
From when I knew nothing till now
Through the labyrinth of searching
To find divine illumination

This live I live today I know one day
It will be gone when I take my last breathe

Sonnet d17

ROTATE

The world is a wheel that rotates infinite

The globe is circular and has been so

Time ticks to a time it returns back

And replays lives lived centuries ago

The spirits they roam and reincarnate

Energy may be destroyed but it's not lost

We live to relive in centuries to come

That's the rotating factor of continuity

I'm not the first to live such a life

Of putting down words with pen on blank

There were many poets before I came in

And there are many more amazing to come

The words put down comes back to rotate

It's a lifelong art with different images

Sonnet d18

WIND

I'll climb the highest mountain's top
For the wind to take away my pain
To feel the echoes of years passed
And relive moments all up in my head

I'll climb to the peak of my years
And seeing how long the journey took Different directions the wind took
All to arrive at a particular point

I'm climbing one step at a time
So I'll clearly follow the direction
Of being in tune with the winds
Following the vane of instruction

I'll climb no matter the challenges
At sea the wind keeps the boat sailing

FORGET

I can't forget all the dreams we shared
Turning away but keep coming back
This bond is something not physical
Pulling us together crossing the pain

I can't forget nothing lasts forever
But I'll do my best in sustaining it
Upholding the values we all share
So we can smile on a better day

I can't forget the days we've passed
And the hurdles we struggled to jump
Over making it out on of lack and want
To a time of giving out some words

If I ever forget a memory we share
Then it will be the one you've erased
